Dear:

We are excited to invite your school publication advisers (SPAs) to participate in our 23rd Word Cup and Eighth Masterclass in scenic Boracay, Aklan. As a premier professional development opportunity, this masterclass caters to the needs of our teachers in their roles as SPAs. Additionally, we welcome your top students who are passionate about honing their skills under the guidance of experienced practitioners.

Our workshops utilize a learning-by-doing approach, bridging the gap between theory learned in the classroom and practical, real-world experiences. On December 5-7, 2024 we will offer our innovative experiential training method and provide an engaging and effective way to cultivate lifelong skills in communication and journalism.

To ensure that your teachers and students can benefit from this unique opportunity, we kindly request that the Division Office cascade the information regarding the event. Ideally, we hope this can be funded through the school MOOE or In-Service Training funds, as permitted under Section 17 of the special provisions for the DepEd budget, which covers other learning and development interventions.

The wider dissemination of this opportunity would greatly support the participation of your teachers and learners. As educational leaders, you have the chance to introduce your team to the only authentic journalism training workshop in the Philippines and Asia.

Interested participants can register through this link: <https://bit.ly/23rdWordCupPH>. For further inquiries, please contact me at wordcup.philippines@gmail.com or 0954 190 2247. You can also find more information on our Facebook page, Word Cup Associated Editors Co.

We look forward to your favorable consideration of our request and hope to welcome your SPAs, academic leaders, subject area teachers and campus journalists to this enriching event.

Thank you for your time and support.

Warm regards,

EUGENIO SONNY O. CALAPIT, Ed.D., EnP

Uptrend in science museums investment to benefit DepEd learners

INQUIRER | up / 02:27PM May 15, 2024

DepEd Region IV - Calabarzon, executive director of Word Cup International Schools Co., unveiled some 200 complete specimens to the 21st Word Cup National Journalism Conference and Contests held in Tagaytay City.

MANILA, Philippines—A young campus journalist struggled to free a rope trapped inside a one-meter tall, square-shaped metal device. A puzzle master quickly intervened, demonstrating how to navigate the tubular labyrinth.

This "rope puzzle" was among the many interactive exhibits that captivated the 250 campus journalists and school publication advisers attending the 21st Word Cup National Journalism Conference and Contests held in Tagaytay City on May 4-5.

May Pagsinhan, executive director of the Philippine Science and Technology Foundation (PSTF), explained that science museums like these are designed to pique children's curiosity and interest in science.

While the PSTF-operated Science Centrum in Marikina remains closed to the public despite the lifting of health restrictions, Pagsinhan acknowledges that investment in science museums in the Philippines falls short compared to ASEAN neighbors.

Manila Times: 'Campus journalism can boost interest in science'

HST summit advances church heritage conservation

THE Department of Home Affairs (DHA) is launching the National Heritage Summit (NHS) in Dipolog City on Oct. 23, 2024, to advance church heritage conservation.

The summit was organized by the DHA and the National Heritage Commission (NHC) in partnership with the Department of Education (DepEd) and the National Commission on Culture and Heritage (NCHC).

The summit will feature a series of activities, including a keynote address by the Secretary of DHA, a panel discussion on church heritage conservation, and a tour of the National Heritage Museum.

The summit is part of the DHA's ongoing efforts to promote and protect the country's cultural heritage.

'Campus journalism can boost interest in science'

Science is often perceived as a dry and complex subject, but a new wave of campus journalism is changing that perception. By focusing on the human side of science, these journalists are making it more accessible and interesting to a wider audience.

Science journalist and author of "The Science of Science" says that campus journalism is a powerful tool for promoting science. "It allows us to tell the stories of the people who are working in the field, and that makes science more relatable and exciting," he says.

One of the key challenges of campus journalism is finding stories that are both scientifically accurate and engaging. "It's not just about reporting on the latest breakthroughs, it's about exploring the impact of science on our lives and the environment," says another journalist.

Despite the challenges, campus journalism is growing rapidly. "We're seeing more and more students and faculty members who are interested in science and want to share their knowledge with the world," says a third journalist.

As campus journalism continues to grow, it has the potential to significantly boost interest in science among the general public. "It's about making science a part of our everyday lives, and that's the only way we can truly understand and appreciate the wonders of the natural world," says the first journalist.
